

THE ART OF HUNTSVILLE BALLET

The 2008 arrival of Phillip Otto and Rachel Butler in Huntsville marked not only the beginning of a new era for Huntsville Ballet but also the birth of a collaboration with artist, Monica Yother. From the first piece of art she created for the ballet - "Ballet Woman" as she has affectionately come to be called - the style was well received and remains the signature for the visual branding for Huntsville Ballet. The work has earned awards at local, regional, and national levels. Yother has continued to create unique art for every season since and enjoys the challenge of keeping the art fresh and expressive. She shares, "I tend to focus on the energy, movement, grace, and strength of dance."

Monica Yother has been a professional artist and graphic designer since 1987 and works out of her studio at Lowe Mill Arts and Entertainment in Huntsville, AL. You can view more of her work, including many dance paintings in Studio 127 Lowe Mill A&E or online at monicayother.com.

To see more Huntsville Ballet art, scan the QR above (or take a photo with your smart phone). You can even order prints of the dance art, and proceeds are donated to Huntsville Ballet.